

CultTech Testimonial

The CultTech program strongly enriched my future studies and helped me in my prospective career. The courses cover a wide range of techniques and knowledge. I found really interesting the combination of new technologies for cultural heritage and especially the non-destructive and innovative methodologies and the communication technologies, all taught in English. In addition, there are multiple specialists, well experienced in each domain, from whom I was honored to be taught and had the chance to visit and work in the some of the most well-known laboratories of Greece. During my studies I was focused on marble studies and through the program and the dissertation I had the chance to be trained in Austria, University of Leoben, for further techniques and methodologies.

All in all I believe that this Masters program helped me in gaining new knowledge, skills and experience. I am confident that this program was and will be very valuable for both my academic and overall development.
